

I want to tell you how important it is to me to listen to K-Love every day. I never thought I would be someone who listens to Christian music everyday but I do. After years of listening to music about love and sex and relationships that don't matter, I now enjoying listening to music about the only one relationship that really counts. My relationship with Jesus. Listening to this music everyday is as uplifting as going to church. The spirit is lifted and my day starts on a positive note. It's a daily reminder of what matters most in life and how unimportant things of this world really are. Many people I know now tune in daily to K-Love. Losing this broadcast would leave us without the music that contributes to our spiritual growth. Bringing this music to our local FM station was such a progressive move in our community. Losing this connection would be taking steps backward.
